Student Information for Health Science Program

Students in Veterinary Science programs work in complex, stressful situations that require critical judgment and decision-making. It is our legal and ethical obligation to affiliating agencies and the community to ensure insofar as possible that our students are safe and stable practitioners.

Many careers in Health Science require graduates to take examinations for licensure or certification. Each occupation has its own professional board, which has rules and regulations governed by law. It is the responsibility of each professional board to issue, suspend, and revoke licenses and provide disciplinary actions for infractions. Upon completion of those programs that are under a professional board, graduates must be eligible for licensure in order to secure and maintain employment.

The following information was developed using advice from affiliating facilities, credentialing agencies' guidelines, and Core Performance Standards for Admission and Progression that were developed by the Southern Council on Collegiate Education for Nursing. Our intent is to ensure that our students are safe practitioners and that our graduates will be eligible for credentialing by the appropriate board and meet the requirements of employment.

2. Purchase leather or leather-like athletic shoes with closed toe and heel. No Crocs allowed.

Proof of Flu Vaccine

Everyone 6 months of age and older should get a flu vaccine every season. This recommendation has been in place since February 24, 2010, when CDC's Advisory Committee on Immunization Practices \(ACIP\) voted for "universal" flu vaccination in the United States to expand protection against the flu to more people.

- Flu vaccines CAN NOT cause the flu. Flu vaccines that are administered with a needle are currently made in two ways: the vaccine is made either with a) viruses that have been 'inactivated' (killed) and are therefore not infectious, or b) with no flu viruses at all (which is the case for recombinant influenza vaccine). The nasal spray flu vaccine does contain live viruses. However, the viruses are attenuated (weakened), and therefore cannot cause flu illness. The weakened viruses are cold-adapted, which means they are designed to only cause infection at the cooler temperatures found within the nose. The viruses cannot infect the lungs or other areas where warmer temperatures exist.
- Flu vaccines are safe. Serious problems from the flu vaccine are very rare. The most common side effect that a person is likely to experience is either soreness where the injection was given or a runny nose in the case of nasal spray. These side effects are generally mild and usually go away after a day or two. Visit Influenza VaccineSafety\(http://www.cdc.gov/flu/protect/vaccine/vaccinesafety.htm\) for more information.
