Temple Terrace Art Festival

Two RVHS students, a part of the art program, were selected to enter their art into the 50th annual Temple Terrace Arts and Crafts Festival. Milo Henry and Kayla Datelle were two nominees out of just five other students in the area. The festival was held in Tampa and featured over one hundred artists and crafters who showcased their work. The event was presented by the Clark-Schine Family Foundation and honored select artists and crafters for their work. The festival featured live music, food, and endless artwork. Milo Henry felt that this was a huge accomplishment for the RVHS art program, having two talented artists get nominated to share their creative work with the world.
