Introducing Our New 21'-22' Staff

Doris Zamora

Zamora is an ESE teacher here at Riverview High School. Zamora isn't new to teaching as she has been doing it for three years now. She was born in Columbia and attended college there as well earning a degree in Business Administration. Zamora teaches all subjects and is continuously inspired to teach due to her love for the children and her belief that there is a lot to learn from them. Some of her passions and hobbies are reading Christian books, crocheting, and painting.

Jason Smith

Coach Smith is a World History and AP Cultural Geography teacher here at Riverview High School, as well as the head baseball coach. He has been teaching for seven years. Smith has attended Troy University, where he has gained a degree in Psychology and History. He is currently working for his master's in history. In his spare time, he plays golf and baseball. Some fun facts about him are that he is a published author and played football for seven years. Smith has chosen to go into a career of education because he was inspired by a youth mentor to become a coach and teacher.

Samantha Fitzjarrald

Fitzjarrald is a school counselor here at Riverview High School. She has pursued a career in education for eight years. Her job is to work with students on academic, emotional, and social needs. She has attended Ball State University, where she earned a Bachelor of Science and a Master of Arts degree. Some things Fitzjarrald enjoys doing in her spare time are hanging out with her beagles and traveling. She has been inspired to go into her career of education because she had an awesome school counselor in high school. When her mother was sick, the counselor helped her with high school, college, and scholarships. Fitzjarrald thought the best way to repay her amazing school counselor was to also become a school counselor.

Riverview High School's Lady Sharks are taking over as we roll through this year's volleyball season. As Coach Jordan Alberts and her varsity girls battle through their season, they stand with a record of 15-3 as of press time, while being on a 14-game win streak.

The team has experienced tough losses against schools like Newsome and Mitchell, as well as blowout wins against Lennard and Sumner. Led by captain Brooke Arnolds and co-captain Hannah Bowers, this team moves as a whole.

One of the team's star players, Madelynn Brooks, spoke of a struggle for her this season which was switching to a new position. "I had to adapt and use new strategies, but it wasn't too hard of a switch since I had the support from my teammates as well as the coach. They helped me get ready for the new position and made sure I could help benefit the team in many ways.

The team hosted its Senior Night two weeks ago and is preparing for upcoming District tournament play.
