Introducing our new Assistant Principal

Michael Warren attended FA&MU for his undergraduate, then transferred to University of Phoenix. He got a bachelor's in science and history with a minor in secondary education and a master's in art administration and supervision. In his spare time, he likes to spend time with his children and watch sports. Warren taught in the classroom for six years and he's been in administration for seven. He says his role is working with students to prepare them for success and graduation. He claims that he thoroughly enjoys Riverview so far and that it's a more welcoming environment with students that have a more academic focus.

Girls Soccer

The changing of the seasons brings new tides to Riverview High School. As winter comes, soccer season begins at Riverview High school with Coach George Fearon setting the girls soccer team up for hopeful success. The Riverview Sharks have managed to score a win out of their first two games, with the other game being forfeited. Though Monday's game was a no-show Coach Fearon believes the opposition was simply terrified by the thought of facing the incredible defense the sharks display, and as the season progresses, he foresees the team pulling together an incredible offense. With the guidance of the upperclassmen, he believes the sharks shall win at least seven of their twelve games this season. The Sharks fell short in their final match of the week against the Newsome Wolves leaving their record 3-1.
