Staff Spotlight

Julie Mohr, VE Teacher
Ida S. Baker Diversity Educator of the Year

LSES VE Teacher Julie Mohr is the Ida S. Baker Diversity Educator of the Year award winner. Mohr began her educational career in Maryland, but has been teaching in Hillsborough County for the last five years.

“Since my first day, I have felt extremely blessed to have landed at Lithia Springs Elementary,” she said. “Our school is a special place with incredible students. The families, faculty and staff work together to help each of our students strive for success.”

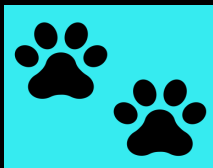

Mohr graduated from High Point University with a BA in Special Education K-12.

“My passion has always been meeting the unique, educational needs of my students,” she said. Mohr says the best part her job is working with students individually or in small groups.

“The small group setting is perfect for creating relationships and building confidence in students. I love celebrating their successes, whether big or small!”

Mohr has been married to her husband for nearly 20 years, and the couple have two children. Most of her free time is watching her kids play football, lacrosse and basketball. The family also has two dogs. Her hobbies include traveling and eating “delicious” food.
